MANGANESE

VBKOM is not your typical engineering consultancy. We rather join hands as our clients' strategic partners.

VBKOM's Manganese Experience

VBKOM has been involved in a multitude of Manganese projects since our inception in 2008. Our team's expert solutions within mine planning, operational readiness, process engineering, resource and reserve estimations and project management have been invaluable in realising our clients' future successes.

Due to VBKOM's diverse pool of expertise, we can offer our clients specialised skills within a one-stop-shop offering. Our engineering, risk, and project management capabilities as well as simulation and decision support expertise, make us an ideal partner to the mining industry.

We have been teaming up with our clients and driving their success for more than a decade.
Unearth the opportunities by partnering with VBKOM.
